Impressive Funeral Services On Sunday Attended by Many From Pass Towns

Well-Known Coleman Mineworkers
Who Died Last Week Laid to Rest
Amid Tributes of Sorrow and Sympathy of Many Friends

The bright sunshine and warmth of an early Spring day was tinged with sadness for many in Coleman on Sunday when the mortal remains of two well-known mining employees and citizens for many years were laid to rest.

It was on Monday evening, April 10, that Pietro Rinaldi, coke loader operator at International mine, who lived with his married brother, was seized with a stroke and moved to hospital. He died four days later, at the age of 52 years and 8 months.

The following morning on his way to work at McGillivray mine, Jerry Lonsbury was seized with a stroke and was found by fellow-workers in a state of collapse on the path leading through Flumerfelt Park. He died late on Friday evening, April 14, without regaining consciousness, in his 62nd year.

The funeral services, held on Sunday, were attended by many from the Pass towns. Mr. Rinaldi's funeral was held at 3 p.m., the body having been taken to the Italian Society's lodge room, where the Ordine Indipendente Fior D'Italia assembled. From there the funeral procession, headed by Coleman Citizens' Band, proceeded to Holy Ghost Church, the band playing Handel's "Dead March in Saul." The burial service was read by Rev. J. T. Dunbar, the church being filled to capacity, while a large number of members of Coleman Miners' Association stood outside. The graveside service on conclusion of the church service was brought to a close by the Italian Society choir.

Mr. Rinaldi came here from Italy over 32 years ago, and lived with a married brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. John Rinaldi, on Second street. The pallbearers were J. D'Apollonia, Ed. D'Apollonia, John Salvador, Joe Salvador, Romeo Rinaldi (of Blainmore), and Alexander Rinaldi (of Champion). There were so many floral tributes that a day was required to take them to the cemetery.

GUNS INSTEAD OF BUTTER

Canada had 37,000,000 pounds of butter on hand in nine principal cities on December 1. In Germany the population has been rationed down to an allowance of a quarter of a pound a week. THE CANADIAN MARKET FOR CANADIAN COAL

(An Editorial in The Record, Springfield, N. S.)

So far nothing has come out of the conference held some months ago between the coal industry and Government officials in connection with wider markets for Canadian coal. It is true that just prior to the conference the Government increased the amount for subventions in order to move Canadian coal, and this has been acknowledged as a great aid to the industry. Speaking in Montreal recently Mr. Arthur Cross, president of the Dominion Steel & Coal Corporation, stated that subventions had been of "material value" in enlarging the coal markets. This is generally recognized and the assistance is appreciated, but it does not go far enough. What the coal industry of Canada wants, and what it needs in order that its miners may work and earn a satisfactory standard of living, is sufficient of the Canadian coal market to ensure them that standard. The market is ours; it is under the control of the Federal Government and it should be accessible first to the Canadian people. Who has a better right to it? If it costs two or three million dollars to move the coal into that market, what difference does it make when our people are working and happy.

The National Coal Committee of Alberta is also pressing for a quota plan and says:

"The national coal committee already has made definite suggestions to the Dominion government that they should immediately take statutory power to control the importation into Canada of foreign coal. Our committee's original suggestion was that having done so, the government should fix the quota of foreign coal that would be allowed into Canada year by year. To what extent the government, by the American treaty, have contracted away their powers to impose a quota, may be doubtful, though it is known the United States have retained the power to impose a quota on Canadian cattle. However, such powers as may still be legally exercised, despite the treaty, should be at once secured to the government by Dominion statute."

When this quota plan was suggested years ago as a remedy for the ills of the coal industry it was not considered worthy of a trial, but today Canada is importing and exporting other goods on a quota basis. If it is good for other industries, it should be good for the coal industry. The Government should try a five-year quota plan and test its feasibility.

Oddfellows Presentations to Long Service Members

Pass Lodges Meet in Honor of R. M. Greenhagh and Granville Greenhagh

On Friday evening members of lodges in Bellevue, Blainmore and Coleman met here in the lodge hall for a social evening, together with the members of the Rebekah lodges of the Pass towns.

In honor of 25 years membership in Coleman lodge, R. M. Greenhagh and Granville Greenhagh were presented with jewels, the presentations and accompanying addresses being made by A. Webster, N.G., and Mr. Cousins of Bellevue.

In honor of the presentations, a social time was spent, refreshments being served and the evening terminating with a very pleasant dance.

Mr. Granville Greenhagh plans on leaving next week for his ranch in the Arrow Lakes district, British Columbia.

Boy Scout and Girl Guide Notes

On Monday evening, at the regular parade of the First Coleman Guides, the girls presented Mrs. A. B. Westworth, lieutenant of the company for the past three years, with a silver flower basket. Frances Short, on behalf of the Guides, expressed regret that Mrs. Westworth is leaving the company.

Mrs. Westworth has been of great value as a leader, and we shall miss her very much.

Mrs. C. Rose is taking over the duties of lieutenant of this group. Tuesday, April 11th, was "Horace Badger" day for four First Company girls and one Ranger, when they entertained at the home of the examiner, Mrs. A. F. Short of Carbondale.

The First Company has said "Goodbye" to one Guide and one Guide-boy for this month already, and next meeting we will lose another of our members when Alison Davidson will be transferred to the Blainmore Company.

St. Paul's Church 33rd Anniversary Sunday, April 30

President of Alberta Conference Will Be the Guest of the Congregation

The arrangements for celebrating the 33rd anniversary of the United Church have been completed. The special services will be held on April 30th. The president of the Alberta Conference of the United Church, Rev. R. W. Dalgleish of Chesholm, will be the guest of the congregation for the occasion. All members and friends are asked to make their plans for that week-end to allow of attendance at both services. The senior choir will lead the singing at both services. The Ladies' Aid will be responsible as usual for the anniversary dinner on the Monday evening.

Next Sunday the services are as usual with the Sunday school at 12:15 p.m.

HONORED BY GOVERNOR-GENERAL

The other day in Calgary Lord Tweedsmuir presented Hon. Lieut. Col. J. H. Woods with the Order of the Silver Wolf, highest honor in the Boy Scout movement. No Albertan ever deserved better of the Boy Scout movement than Mr. Woods who, for many years, has given freely of his time and energy and enthusiasm to the boys of the province in furthering the work of the Scouts.—Lethbridge Herald.

Unity Movement Being Organized in Pincher Creek-- Crows Nest Constituency

General Meeting to Be Held in Cowley
This Evening to Discuss Constituency Organization

Last Friday a delegation of Pincher Creek men visited the Pass towns to meet those interested in the Unity League movement for Alberta. The party included Mr. Lynch-Staunton, Mr. Duffield and Mr. Noel Cox, prominent farmers of Pincher Creek constituency, and Frank T. Edwards, proprietor of the Pincher Creek Echo and who also owns a farm there.

A meeting was held at The Journal office when several interested in the movement were present, and it was decided to organize a party to attend a meeting at Cowley at 8 p.m. this evening (Thursday).

Under the redistribution plan of the provincial government, Rocky Mountain constituency has been eliminated, and Pincher Creek has also been re-aligned, the new constituency being named Pincher Creek-Crows Nest Pass. It combines an agricultural area with an industrial area, therefore for the next provincial election a candidates will have to be selected who can represent both factions. Heretofore Rocky Mountain was almost entirely a labor constituency, though Banff was included.

The meeting this evening will select a representative to go on the provincial council of the Unity League, and one of the principal speakers will be Mr. E. W. Brunsten, provincial secretary of the League.

PONOKA ELECTS MEMBER TO UNITY COUNCIL

PONOKA.—E. E. Bowker, young Ponoka business man and a native son of this town, has been chosen by the unity-minded residents of the Ponoka provincial constituency to represent them on the Unity Council of Alberta.

The new council member is engaged in the lumber business here. C. Reed, young farmer of this district, was elected as temporary president of the Ponoka Constituency Association at the recent meeting; J. W. Wolcott was elected temporary vice-president and Robert H. Jones, temporary secretary-treasurer.

SPORTS

BASEBALL - FOOTBALL - TENNIS
SOFTBALL - GOLF

All will have enthusiastic devotees
this summer.
CLUBS ARE ORGANIZING

INSPECT NEW SPORTS FIELD

A committee was chosen on Sunday to carefully study and measure the land lying opposite the McGillivray triangle to find if it would be suitable for the three major summer sports, football, baseball, and softball. The committee includes Wm. Chapman, chairman; A. Gentile, W. Gate, Jim Anderson, D. Smith and W. Kubien.

A group of sportsmen measured the field on Sunday afternoon and found it sufficiently large to accommodate for football and softball. Now it rests with Angelo and his baseballers to decide if it is large enough to accommodate them.

Should the committee bring in a favorable report it has been stated that John Salvador's tractor will be engaged to level the field.

NEW UNIFORMS

Baseball enthusiasm is running high at the present time. Regardless of the success of the sports carnival which will be held next month and in which the baseball club is taking a prominent part, the club will have new snappy uniforms.

Last week Angelo ordered the uniforms, which will be red, white and blue in color. The jerseys will be white with the word "Pucksters" written in red across the breast. The pants and stockings will be blue.

A league meeting is expected to be called in Blainmore early next month.

CARNIVAL NOTES

A steady sale of tickets was reported by the carnival committee at a meeting of all sportsmen in the council chamber on Sunday. The miners gave good support last week and sent the ticket selling campaign away to a good start. Tickets will be taken to outside towns and sold. The baseball, football and carnival queen candidates report favorably on their ticket sale as they aggressively conduct their campaign in an effort to be crowned queen and receive the beautiful Bulova wrist watch.

New and beautiful prizes as well as new games will be on display at the various booths.

Hockey Association Held Meeting in Calgary

Officials of the Alberta Senior Hockey League and team delegates met at Calgary on Sunday to close the books on the past season's business. Representing Coleman were H. Gardner, A. F. Short, Fred Guernard and Frank Aboussafy.

Since the meeting was called to discuss last year's business only, no new business was discussed, but it was decided to hold another meeting in three weeks to thoroughly discuss plans for next season.

WANTED—A LEADER

Have the citizens of Coleman reached the point where they are in favor of supporting organized sports by a fund which would be contributed into by all? Reports reaching the writer during the past week tend to give that impression.

One man soliciting a local mine last week in aid of a local cause was asked on numerous occasions: "Is it necessary to solicit in this manner; can you not take 25 cents from our statement each month towards a sports fund?" When a number of the men ask that this be done instead of a small group contributing towards, then it is time for something to be done, and done quickly. All that is required is a leader.

If a group of men would get together on this movement, gather all the information possible—Blainmore has operated a sports fund successfully for the past several years—then call a public meeting to discuss the proposal in every detail, there is every likelihood that something can be accomplished. Expert information could be given a committee, willing to take the leadership in this movement, by Milt Congdon of Blainmore, who has taken a leading part in the sports fund in that town.

Auxiliaries To Safety

Provided the cost of installation is not too great to render prohibitive the use of them in sufficient number to be of real value, the newly announced mirrors enabling motorists climbing up an incline to see the cars coming up on the other side before the crest is reached, should be effective as a life and limb saver on the highway.

The result of six years experimentation, the new device consists of a glass 13 feet wide and four feet high which is mounted on a bridge straddling the crest of the hill similar to those used to carry railway signals.

It is made of 17 triangular bars of glass laid parallel across the face, according to a report presented to the Greater New York Safety Council. Each bar is a prism which bends the light rays coming up one side of the hill to go downward on the other side and reflects everything about half way. Moreover, it is said to be effective at night.

To what extent the general use of such a device on the highways would prevent accidents occurring on hills is difficult to say until it has been put to practical use for a period of time. Suffice it to say, however, that lack of vision over hills has been responsible for many serious accidents in the past, resulting in many deaths and severe injuries, to say nothing of property loss represented by wrecked automobiles and trucks.

Such accidents are sometimes caused by a driver persisting in driving up a hill at high speed on the wrong side of the road, or of one driver passing another near the top of a hill while a third car travelling in the opposite direction is coming up on the other side, leaving insufficient space for the three cars to pass one another safely.

Worth A Trial

On the face of it, the invention appears to have sufficient merit to make a demonstration of its use worth while and any money which the governments might spend in installing one or two on the principal highways in each of the provinces would probably be money well expended. If two or three trial mirrors of this type proved their worth, it would not be long before the general motoring public would demand installation of them on all of the dangerous hills and doubtless would be prepared to defray the cost of such a convenience.

The steep hill on the highway is, of course, only one of the hazards of motor travel, but it is one of the most prolific sources of danger and as a death trap ranks with the unprotected level crossing. "Never pass another car on a hill" is one of the slogans of safety first organizations but, unfortunately, it is a piece of advice that too often is honored in the breach.

With the summer months approaching and the season of maximum use of the highways commencing, the present is an opportune time to take stock of the dangers of the open road and to reflect upon the measures that can and should be taken, if not to eliminate entirely, to minimize at least the tremendous annual toll of life, limb and property exacted by accidents on the road.

This is largely an individual problem since statistics, as far as the necessary information is available, demonstrate that the human element is responsible for by far the greater percentage of the risks and the losses. In other words, a very substantial proportion of accidents is due to criminal negligence, or recklessness, or plain carelessness and lack of proper precaution rather than mechanical defects.

Make An Inventory

With the human element—the vagaries or eccentricities, misjudgments or the mere aberrations of the driver, responsible for the great majority of accidents on the highway, it is essential that every motorist take time off occasionally to conduct a self-examination of his own habits and mental reflexes at the wheel.

It is a good precautionary measure for a driver to list potential causes of accidents and ask himself what he would do were he suddenly faced with situations likely to cause disaster to the unprepared. It is good practice for the motorist to make a similar list of his own bad or dangerous habits on the highway and drill himself into decisions to avoid them. "I did not see it," is one of the most frequent excuses heard at the post mortem of highway accident, betokening lack of powers of observation or failure to exercise them.

Every driver of an automobile or truck should cultivate the practice of watching for the little things which may signal danger ahead. The sudden, disturbed flight of a bird sitting on the road opposite an intersection 75 or 100 yards ahead is likely to be a warning that another vehicle is approaching at right angles.

The keenly observant driver eventually develops an intuition of pending danger which some day may stand him in good stead and save his life and the lives of others. The careless, non-observant driver is ever a menace to himself and to others.

Mechanical devices such as those referred to at the outset have their value but their value is much enhanced if the driver does not permit them to relax his vigilance or to let up in the practice of sensible conduct.

New Type Cafe

Makes Specialty Of Milk, Cheese Sandwiches And Buttered Toast

Many Milwaukeeans, says Country Home, now give parties out in the country at the "Milk Jug," where the cold, creamy milk is on tap, and the tasty cheese sandwiches and thickly buttered toast can be ordered to go with it. Cows are milked in a sanitary parlor right before their eyes and cheese and milk are made while they wait. Now nearing the end of its second year, this picturesque wayside inn is going strong, and sales run as high as $300 a day.

Florida Residents See Snow

Shipment Taken To St. Petersburg Was Shown In Store Window

That white fluff, parents told wide-eyed youngsters staring in at the downtown store window in St. Petersburg, Florida, was snow—the stuff you see pictured on Christmas cards. And that's about the only place many natives of this sunshine resort had seen it before an air express shipment arrived from Cannon Mountain, New Hampshire, and was placed on public display. The snow, packed in cartons protected by dry ice, was brought by the New Hampshire Tourist Society for use at a party.

Imports Some Wool

Australia Does Not Produce Course Grades In Any Quantity

Australia has for many years led the world by a wide margin in wool production. While the population of the Commonwealth today is 108,918, short of the seven million mark, the sheep are 114,250,919 sheep, or 16½ to every person. Last year these sheep grew more than 1,000,000,000 pounds of wool. This is one point in which Australia leads Canada. The senior dominion is ahead in production of wheat, cattle, lumber and minerals, but her 11,000,000 people own only 3,415,000 sheep, and the annual wool production is only 18,915,000 pounds.

During February in London sales of Australian wool totalled 1,920,219 bales, an increase over the corresponding month of 1938 of 163,883. A fact recently brought to light is that the Australia, despite its huge production, has to import a small amount of wool from overseas. Eighty per cent. of the country's flocks are Merino sheep, and the Commonwealth's supremacy in the wool market relates only to medium fine and superfine wools. She produces very little of the coarser, crossbred wools. When manufacturers of coarse woolen goods require these coarser grades for blending with the finer Australian wools they have to import them.

Australia claims to be the wealthiest of the British Dominions. In the Commonwealth there are 866,190 registered motor vehicles, 639,542 telephones, and 1,068,709 radio licenses. At all of which she is behind Canada in the gross, although not so much on a per capita basis. Her savings bank deposits at latest reports were $1,210,000,000, or about $175 per capita, compared with $1,655,800,000 for Canada which, works out at about $160 per head.

Mansion For Sale Cheap

But Initial Cost Of Five Dollars Is Just The Start

Would you like to buy a London mansion right in the West End near to Hyde Park, with ten bedrooms, three bathrooms, and five reception rooms, in one of London's fashionable squares, for £17? You would? Well, the agents for No. 29, Hyde Park-square will be pleased if you will call and sign the contract.

And then, well, you don't wake up, but you find there is a snag about it—several snags in fact. The ground rent works out at about £280 a year, the rates (at present) at £154, and the lease is a full-repairing one, which means that it will cost about £100 to paint the front of the house alone! So, if you are not prepared to spend some £700 or £800 a year on your prospective home, you'll have to look elsewhere. Perhaps, after all, you'll take that thirty bob a week flat constant hot water, and if the plaster off the ceiling hits you when it falls, you're unlucky.

Still a notice outside No. 29, which is empty at present, says that 36 years' unrequired lease is for sale at the cost of £1. Until Christmas No. 29 was the town house of Frederick R. H. Miller, assistant private secretary to the Foreign Secretary, Lord Halifax, and now First Secretary at the British Embassy in Washington. —Overseas Daily Mail.

Air Borne Traffic

Remarkable Increase In Passenger And Mail Revenue Is Shown

In spite of the cycle of recession, statistics show a remarkable increase in air line passenger traffic and mail revenue in the past few years. George G. Wakeman, general traffic manager of the Trans-Canada Airlines, said in an address to Westmont Rotary Club. Last year, he pointed out, 1,500,000 passengers were carried in the United States, an increase of 200 per cent. in five years. World figures for 1938 were not available but the total he said, was in excess of 1937, when there were 5,078,199 air travellers.

A study of traffic figures for air line operations in Canada showed that total mail poundage increased from 225,040 pounds in 1934 to 1,857,221 in 1938, about 75 per cent. in four years. Air mail postage revenue last year was estimated at $505,592.96. In the same period air freight and express in Canada increased from 14,411,799 pounds to 26,387,719, nearly 50 per cent.

The League Of Nations

Canada Should Lead In Reviving Only Basis Of Sanity

Instead of standing on the sidelines in the present international crisis Canada must take the lead in bringing the nations back to the League of Nations, the only basis of sanity, if civilization is to be saved, Dr. J. S. Thomson, president of the University of Saskatchewan, said when he arrived in Winnipeg to address the 34th annual convention of Manitoba Educational Association.

"Canadians must re-awaken from the slumber into which they have fallen in respect to foreign affairs," Dr. Thomson declared. "They must get away from the delusion that they can keep out of a world conflict and stand on the side-lines while Britain, France, Germany and Italy engage in a struggle for power."

"This business of standing on the side-lines is destroying us. If one-tenth of the thought and discussion that has been given to the B.N.A. Act in the past 10 years had been given to the constitution and operation of the League of Nations, the prairie farmer to-day might have a better price for his wheat and we might have a more stable economy in Canada and in the world."

Local Defence

The Responsibility That Is Attached To Each Dominion

The world is suffering from "air-funk," according to Vice-Admiral J. E. T. Harper, Navy League lecturer. This, he feared, might lead to people placing undue emphasis on the danger of air attack and so neglecting the main issue—the proper maintenance of general and local naval defence.

Responsibility for general defence cannot be divided up among the separate members of the Commonwealth of Nations, Admiral Harper declared. "But local defence, such as protection against mines, or against bombardment by a raider which has evaded the navy on the high seas, must obviously be the responsibility of each Dominion."

Man Of Science

Death at 60 has overtaken Dr. Charles R. Stockard, internationally known biologist, who held out the hope that man through science may attain the "fountain of youth."

Dr. Stockard, president of the Board of the Rockefeller Institute and head of the Department of Anatomy at the Cornell Medical College, told the Old Age Congress in 1928: "I would not hesitate to say that a man might be kept as he is at the age of 25 for several hundreds of years."

Dr. Stockard had been ill with a heart ailment six months before his death.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

HISTORY repeats itself in many ways. The uncertainty created by events in Europe can be likened to Napoleon's days of about 130 years ago. Napoleon conquered a considerable portion of Europe, he set a puppet king on the throne of Spain and of Italy. He made a march on Moscow which ended in disaster for his troops, and the Retreat from Moscow, which city Napoleon found in ruins, is one of the tragedies of Napoleon's military adventures in his ambition to rule the whole of Europe.

BUT even this did not quench his military ardor to become the dictator of Europe. The safety of Europe was again endangered after his escape from the Island of Elba, whence he had been banished, by his return to Paris and rallying around him the Old Guard. Again he set out on conquest, but his sun had begun to set. France became weary, and Napoleon finally submitted to the inevitable, throwing himself on the mercy of the British. After being taken to England, the British authorities decided that there was no place in Europe to which he could be safely exiled, so he was banished to St. Helena, a lonely rock-girt isle about 600 miles off the west coast of Africa, where he lived for about six years till his death.

SINCE the Treaty of Versailles, there have been some in Europe, even friendly to the Allied Powers of the Great War days, who in calmer moments have felt that the terms of that treaty were very severe on Germany. For that reason Hitler was given more leeway than many who hold the opposite view could view with complacency. Appeasement was Prime Minister Chamberlain's policy until after the Munich conversations. It was worth the trial, no matter what his critics may have said.

BUT evidently imperialism by force is Hitler's aim and Great Britain and France have come to the conclusion that force must be met with force if democracy is to endure. This conclusion is also becoming evident in the United States, despite what advocates of neutrality may say, for no longer can that great country hold itself aloof from world affairs if it wishes to hold up its end as one of the foremost powers of the world. Even a great international newspaper such as the Christian Science Monitor editorially comments that the United States cannot stand idly by while the struggle is on between dictatorships and democracies.

IT IS difficult to understand the attitude of Canadians who quibble about what Canada should do in the event of war. One would decide without hesitation that Canada's interests are so closely interwoven with the rest of the British Empire that there could be no question of Canada being at war if Great Britain is. As we receive the benefits of Empire participation, so must we share the responsibilities. Otherwise we would be mere spongers, or craven cowards.

AS the five-year-span of the Social Credit government will end next year, plans are being laid not only by the Social Credit forces, who throughout the past four years have skillfully employed propaganda to bolster their cause, but by other forces opposed to Aberhartism. Pincher Creek and Rocky Mountain have been re-aligned, so that part of each has been combined into one constituency. The result is we have approximately one half of the electorate agricultural, and the other, industrial. It will be somewhat difficult to select a representative to champion the causes of the two factions. Yet the chief requirement is to have men at Edmonton who will deal with provincial affairs in a business-like manner, instead of making Alberta the guinea-pig for experiments.

TO-NIGHT at Cowley, that being the most central point of the new constituency, there will meet men who believe that the present setup at Edmonton can only end in further discredit to the province. The meeting will be under the auspices of the Unity League, and as a result of this gathering it is anticipated that a constituency organization will be effected.

MUCH dissatisfaction has developed against the government through increased taxation with no apparent benefit accruing, while the army of government employees has increased to an alarming extent, undoubtedly with a view to strengthening the Social Credit forces, for every appointee is another booster for the government to keep it in office, because a job depends on it. Such a condition through indifference can develop to the point where the masses would be under a virtual dictatorship, and this is one of the many reasons that the Unity League is attempting to organize under its banner those opposed, regardless of former political affiliations.

IN four years there has been time to demonstrate, if there are any, the benefits to be obtained under Social Credit; therefore it is only natural that there should be a combined effort to supplant the present government. Its promises were extravagant in the extreme, yet they were given with such assurance that the majority voted for the program enunciated by Premier Aberhart. Albertans apparently are willing to try anything once. The policy of Social Credit was founded on false promises. It made people believe they were to be given something. The attempts to carry on Credit Houses are based on promising three per cent. on purchases of goods. A monthly dividend was promised. To make good all such promises of something for nothing, it would require that those who have sufficient wisdom to produce sufficient to pay their way and leave a surplus must turn it over to those who will always be needing hand-outs. If people would like the government to care for them from the cradle to the grave, then they must become slaves of the State, and do as they are told. The majority of Canadians do not want such a condition. The country was not built that way.

"Some Day I'm Going to Take it Easy"

THAT'S what thousands of men are promising themselves—a comfortable old age, freed from work and worry. And many are able to make their dreams come true, through their savings in Life Insurance.

Life Insurance does two important jobs. First, it protects widows and dependent children—providing them with necessary funds if they are obliged to carry on single-handed. Secondly, Life Insurance builds up a cash reserve for future years—enabling men and women to "take it easy" in their old age.

And millions of Life Insurance Dollars are put to work in financing farms and homes—schools and good roads—and many other worthwhile enterprises.

Former Colemanites like to keep in touch with the town by having The Journal mailed weekly from the office. From Cadomin comes a cheque to renew the subscription of former mine superintendent J. A. McLeod, for which we say—Thanks!

If anyone ever thought it possible for Mr. Halliwell or any other editor to get a handout in Ottawa, he should guess again. It may be possible in Alberta, but you've got to qualify for that eight or ten bucks a day by signing a plea: "I promise."

Organizing Business for Credit Houses

Merchants and Citizens of Pass Towns
Being Interviewed by J. J. Blotte of Edmonton

In order to acquaint the public generally with the nature of business to be carried on by Treasury Branches of the provincial government, Mr. J. Blotte is spending some time in the Pass towns between Coleman and Pincher Creek interviewing merchants and wage-earners.

The branch recently opened in Blairmore will be the centre for credit house transactions. Mr. Blotte in an interview with The Journal stated that one of the difficulties he has to contend with as contact man, is in educating the wage-earners on the benefits to be obtained by the use of non-negotiable transfer vouchers. He thought it might be advisable to address small meetings of groups of people through their various organizations.

Mr. Blotte is working in conjunction with the Marketing Board of the provincial government, the chairman of which is Mr. G. A. Clash, of Medicine Hat.

TRAINING AS TEACHERS

As part of their Normal School course, the following former high school students of Coleman are teaching for one week at the following schools in the rural district: Nora Easton at Pincher Station; Owen Jones at Todd Creek; Rita Ady at Cowley; Ruth Sudworth near Lundbreck; Virginia Janostak at Burmis; Mary McIntyre at Frank. Following their week at these schools, they will return to Calgary Normal School to complete their course, which will end early in June.

If successful in passing their tests, they will then be given permits to teach for one year, following which they sit for further examinations if they desire to continue in the teaching profession.

BUSH FIRE CAUSED ALARM

A carelessly dropped match or cigarette stub on the miners' path in Flumerfelt Park on Monday afternoon caused a scare when a blaze rapidly developed close to the Beveridge home, and quickly spread up the hill towards their house. Mrs. Beveridge was warned by a neighbor, Mrs. Chris Rogers, who rushed in and told her of the danger. A telephone call quickly brought the fire brigade to quell the blaze.

Western Canada Federation Pigeon Clubs Meeting

Coleman Club Looks for Even Better Season Than Last; Homing Federation Officers Elected.

The second annual meeting of Western Canada Federation of Racing Pigeon Clubs was held in the Grand Union hotel on April 7. Representatives from Lumberton and Cranbrook, B.C., Calgary and Coleman were present.

The activities of 1938 were reviewed and unanimously approved, and the finances were reported to be in good shape.

Officers elected for 1939 were: J. P. Walsh, Lumberton, president; A. Thompson, Lethbridge, vice-president; G. H. Jackson, Calgary, secretary-treasurer (re-elected).

The program of races for 1939 was arranged as follows: Old birds' race, from Waterways to Coleman, 505 miles, June 22; Fort Chippewan to Coleman, 650 miles, July 7. One-year-old birds, Lac la Biche to Coleman, 374 miles, July 1. For young birds, the dates for two races will be decided later.

A better year even than last is anticipated. After the meeting Coleman club entertained the visitors. The next annual meeting will be held in Calgary.—Fred Beddington, secretary.

Blairmore's treasury branch is now in operation, with R. W. H. Hamlet, formerly of the staff of the Royal Bank branch at Bellevue, as manager, and J. M. Farris, of Edmonton, as assistant.—Enterprise.

Family Owns Cocos Island

Was Settled By Scotsman Named Ross A Century Ago

Head of a new committee just established in London to publicize Empire week is young tall, good-looking Dr. I. Clunies Ross. He represents Australia on this committee, which also has members from South Africa and New Zealand. His family, however, is linked not so much with Australia as with Cocos Island, where a Scottish ancestor settled more than a century ago. The island has been owned by the Ross family ever since, says the London Daily Sketch. Cocos Island is the most important of a small group of tiny coral islets in the Indian Ocean. As the name suggests, it is noted for coconuts, not sheep. In fact, pigs and rats are the only mammals on the island—with the exception, of course, of the human inhabitants, mostly Malays, Chinese and Indians, with a sprinkling of Europeans. Incidentally, this is not the same Cocos Island, where all the treasure-hunting took place a few years ago.

Preserving Lenin's Body

Process Used For Embalming Has Become A State Secret

Professor Boris Ilyich Zbarsky and two assistants were awarded decorations for their achievements in connection with the successful embalming of Nikolai Lenin's body.

Lenin founder of the Soviet Union, died Jan. 21, 1924, and the crowds of mourners who came to see him lying in state gave Bolshevik leaders the idea of a semi-permanent display. The late Dr. Vladimir Vorobiev and Prof. Zbarsky were called in.

"Give us a free hand and follow our instructions afterward," they said, "and we guarantee to preserve the appearance of the visible parts of the body unimpaired not only for the three months you ask, but perhaps for 100 years."

The process they used has become a state secret.

Useful Information

When having the misfortune to break a tumbler or other piece of glassware, use absorbent cotton to pick up the fine particles, damping the cotton before using. This method is much more effective than a brush, especially on hard surfaces, for it gets even the smallest pieces and does away with the danger of silvers entering the fingers.

Future Of Aviation

From Vancouver To London In 48 Hours Is Predicted

Aviation and wireless are the two inventions of our times that have been the great revolutionary improvements in human communication: they have brought the people of the world very close to one another and at once to their advantage and their peril.

Mr. McTaggart-Cowan points the moral and adorns the tale of one of these inventions. He says that air passage from Vancouver to London, in 48 hours would most likely be possible by 1941.

It is an extraordinary prophecy, but the statement of it, of course, is not startling at all. Mr. Cowan suggests, almost as a matter of course, that there will be another year of experimental flight and preparation, then a preliminary trans-Atlantic air-mail service, and then mail and passenger service together.

The progress of the newly-inaugurated trans-Canada Airlines in the promise and the pattern of the extended service. The sort of work Mr. Cowan is carrying on at Botwood is the indispensable complement of transatlantic and transatlantic air service. Weather observation is an important part of it.

Aviation is at once the promise and the threat of the future. In the moral sense, as well as materially, the heavier-than-air flying machine overlaps all the old frontiers of land and sea.

We have realized Puck: "I'll put a giraffe round about the earth in 40 minutes," but we have let Mercury and Mars come in on Puck's secret, too—Vancouver Province.

Gardening

Timely Hints
Seed catalogues put out by the large firms contain much more than mere mention of the many flowers and vegetables available in Canada. They specify important points such as time of planting, resistance to lack of resistance to frost, height, color, season of blooming, whether scented, and also the suitability of the flower for cutting purposes.

All of these points should be taken into consideration in planning a garden. Little plants must not be hidden by tall things, and there should be as much bloom in the garden as possible.

Quality Vegetables
The secret of tender vegetables, which little plants must not be hidden by tall things, and there should be as much bloom in the garden as possible.

There are at least a score of big bushy annua like dahlias, cosmos, African marigolds, and cactor beans which will reach a height of three to eight feet by mid-June. These will furnish ample background for the hundreds of dwarf to medium height annual flowers which are listed in any seed catalogue.

To screen verandah or fence, such things as scarlet runner beans, morning glories, hops will do the job in a few weeks.

Still The Best Seller

Bible Remains Source Of The Nobliest Moral Ideas

The Minneapolis Journal says whatever the reader may think of the matter of divine inspiration, the Bible remains the source of the noblest moral ideas, that the world has known. The human interest of its stories, the beauty of its poetry, the wisdom of its observations are incomparable. Even in the English-speaking world its annual sales outstrip the best-seller, and its influence permeates every department of human thought and life.

Has Poor Support

How many members of the present generation have read "Uncle Tom's Cabin"? asks the New York Sun. It was published serially in 1851-52, and was brought out in book form by John P. Jewett of Boston 87 years ago. Out of it grew the many "Uncle Tom" shows which toured this country: of one of them a waggish reviewer wrote: "The bloodhounds were good but they had poor support."

Taking No Chances

A somewhat weary-looking gentleman, says Colliers, boarded the train, settled himself, and got out a large sign which he carefully hung on his coat. "Listen, I read, 'I think Hitler is crazy.' Worries Of Plastic Surgery

This Is Good Story Whether You Believe It Or Not

Plastic surgery has advanced with leaps and bounds in recent years, but plastic surgeons are still having their troubles. One doctor, according to The Commentator, had a man's inner throat to patch and the only skin he found suitable was on the man's neck. The surgeon operated and grafted the skin of the neck to that of the throat quite successfully. But, according to the medical report, the strip from the neck grew a beard and prevented the luckless patient from swallowing his food.

A Lesson For Canada

Finland Takes Every Care In Protecting Forest Resources

Visiting Canada at present are two Finnish gentlemen who modestly say that they are here to learn.

It might pay Canada to keep them here in order that Canadians might learn from them exactly how Finland has turned its forest resources to an inexhaustible source of wealth to the country. For under the Finnish system of forestry there is no possibility that these resources will ever vanish. In Canada, unfortunately, conditions are very different.

The two gentlemen are Ahti Meeklin, Director of the Finnish Forest Service, and Dr. Eino Saari, Professor of Forest Economics of Helsinki University.

They explain the forest products of Finland: lumber, pulpwood, wood-pulp, newsprint and cellulose, produce between 80 and 90 per cent of the country's exports. The forests, in short, are Finland's greatest source of wealth. All Finland's eggs are in one wooden basket—and the Finns keep a watchful eye on it!

To mix metaphors a little more, the Finns have decided that it is not wise to kill the goose that lays the golden eggs by stripping the country of timber for quick and large profits.

They have, therefore, developed a system of farming the forests as well as their agricultural lands. Stringent laws in Finland forbid the owner of timber lands to cut them faster than they can be naturally regenerated. Large lumber operations such as are common in Canada are unknown there. Timber leases are never stripped of coniferous trees and then allowed to grow up in birch and poplar as has happened on this continent.

Indeed by far the greatest proportion of accessible timber in Finland grows on the farms of Finnish peasants who have become accustomed to the thought that their cash crop is the only thing which they can grow in the winter through careful felling of selected trees. Their farms produce little more than the food necessary to feed their families.

Canadians will probably never go to this extreme in conserving their forest assets. Yet it is likely that we can learn much from the Finns on the subject of forest conservation for it is generally realized in Canada now that we have wasted a great part of our original endowment of timber wealth. Montreal Standard.

Seems That We Should Take More Interest In Our Sister Dominions

Speaking to the Canadian Club of Toronto, Mr. Robert Jackson, former economic adviser to the Bank of England, told this story.

A young Australian lady was discussing Canadian-Australian relations with Vincent Massey, Canada's High Commissioner. She deplored the fact that Canadians knew so little about her country.

"How many Canadians," she queried, "would know the capital of West Australia?"

"Very few," replied the truthful Mr. Massey. "But how many of your country folk would know the capital of Saskatchewan?"

"Oh, Mr. Massey," replied the young lady, "you can't fool me. There isn't such a place."—Toronto Financial Post.

PAUL WINS RECOGNITION FOR GENTILE CHRISTIANS

Golden text: A man is not justified by the works of the law, but through faith in Jesus Christ. Galatians 2:16. Lesson: Acts 15:1-35; Galatians 2:1-10. Devotional reading: Galatians 2:15-21.

Explanations And Comments

Deputation to Jerusalem and Conference, Acts 15:1-12. On their return from their First Missionary Journey, as we learned last week, Paul and Barnabas reported to the church at Antioch in Syria, the church which had sent them on their mission, that "God had opened a door of faith unto the Gentiles." The church at Antioch, itself composed largely of Gentiles, rejoiced at the news, and resolved to send a deputation to Jerusalem and settle the vexed question with the apostles and elders there. As a matter of course, Paul and Barnabas were appointed among the delegates.

At Jerusalem they gave an account of what had taken place in the newly-founded "Gentile churches." Arguments for and against Christian liberty followed. So great a matter, which involved the question whether the gospel was for all Gentiles or only for the few who should first become Jews, could not be settled off-hand. A meeting of apostles and elders was called to consider the matter.

Paul's Account in Galatians of His Visit to Jerusalem, Galatians 2:1-10. It is the usual view that Paul's account here is his first visit to Jerusalem of which Acts 15 tells. Titus, a Gentile convert, was with Paul and Barnabas, before the general conference held at Antioch. The general conference held at Antioch was the first held consultation with the three pillars of the Church, James, Peter and John. At this smaller conference the three acknowledged Paul as the apostle to the Gentiles, and gave him and Barnabas to be supreme where the Gentiles predominated, and the other apostles to be supreme among the Jews. The only thing asked of Paul was that the Gentile Christians should receive the poor to Jerusalem. Moffatt's translation of verse 2 makes the meaning clearer: "It was in consequence of the progress of the work up at Antioch, I submitted the gospel I am in the habit of preaching to the church, and I privately laid the authorities, to make sure that my course of action would be and had been sound."

Has Possibilities

Explorers Find Rich Territory For Colonization In Colombia

Four scientists, just returned from the first ascent of one of the highest peaks ever climbed by an American expedition, reported that their explorations in Colombia led through regions rich in possibilities for white colonization and for cattle-raising.

Walter Wood of the American Geographical Society of New York said huge herds of wild cattle and wild buck horses were observed as these explorers made their way to the snow-covered summit of a mountain peak nearly 20,000 feet high in the Santa Marta mountains.

"The accessibility of the area, little more than 25 miles from the Caribbean coast and just inland from the Colombia coast," Barnabogue, Wood said, "should invite development, since there are tremendous possibilities."

Plastic Glass

So Pliable It Can Be Rolled Up Like A Rug

Glass so plastic it can be rolled up like a rug was demonstrated to scientists and engineers at Franklin Institute, Philadelphia. It bent—but did not break when a dummy was bent, bent first again, it in the accident of an "automobile accident." Baseballs were pitched at it while pretty girl models stood on the opposite side. The girls ducked, but the glass stopped the balls. Three monkeys with hammers cracked down on the glass. They enjoyed themselves, but the glass remained intact. The demonstration climaxed six years of co-operation by five manufacturers to reduce highway hazards through perfection of safety glass. The research cost $6,000,000.

WHY SHORTNESS OF BREATH?

A person who breathes comfortably when at rest, but gets out of breath when some physical exercise is taken, naturally wants to know the reason.

In the young and middle-aged, unusual shortness of breath on exertion in the absence of lung or heart disease, is due to being "out of condition." The causes of being "out of condition" are:

1. Want of regular exercise, which makes the heart as well as other muscles flabby and unequal to extra work.
2. Obesity, that is, being over-fat. This is always due to the taking of too much food, as well as to the invariable lack of exercise taken by obese individuals.
3. Over-indulgence in tobacco or alcohol.
4. The absorption of poisonous substances from teeth, tonsils, bowels, etc.
5. All conditions of general debility as from illness, under-nourishment or too long confinement in doors.
6. Anemia, that is, poor blood. In such cases the blood lacks colour, the heart is undermuscled and the oxygen supply to the lungs is at a low level.

The most important of all causes of shortness of breath is in the case of disorder of the lungs, such as chronic bronchitis and tuberculosis. In such cases the progress of the disease may occur early in life but these, particularly actual heart disease, are common in adult life. Shortness of breath in adult life and in the aged is usually the best indication of the heart's incapacity. It is often a better sign of the condition of the heart than can be gained from physical examination.

Chronic bronchitis and tuberculosis, by interfering with the normal supply of oxygen to the lungs, cause shortness of breath. The blood in such conditions is unable to gain a sufficient supply of oxygen for adequate lung supply. In the young, one should take note of breathlessness after exertion, after a long heart or lung disease. The best time to treat such a condition is before the condition becomes chronic. One of the best means of warding off the consequences of the various agencies producing shortness of breath is by regular physical examination. This advice pertains to both young and old. If it is followed, it would prevent much severe illness and many premature deaths.

Scares Birds

Peculiar Calling Followed By Man In England Who Shouts For A Living

There is a man living in Fairbourne Heath, Kent, who has shouted for his living for 72 years.

He is George Brann, last of the Kentish bird scarers. Seventy-three years ago this month he was first called out to do bird scaring at the age of nine.

His job was to patrol the boundaries of a 20-acre field of corn, waving a clapper, blowing a penny whistle with a pea in it, turning a policeman's rattle, or ringing a ship's bell. He also shouted out the bird alarm that had come down in his family for generations.

There was no time to the charms, he explained. He didn't sing—he just "hollored." Such was the power of his voice that at 16 he was the most sought-after bird scarer at the sewing season south of the Thames. He'd never been to London, and wouldn't go even if he were invited by the Lord Mayor himself, he said.

Must Keep On Pedaling

A dictator is up against the same proposition as a man on a bicycle. He can't stop pedaling," said Jan Masaryk, former Czechoslovakian Minister to London and son of the defunct democracy's founder, who arrived at New York from Chicago. "He's got to keep on pedaling or he'll fall off."

Ice in the arena is causing quite a problem to the arena management. Lack of warm weather and the hard-surfaced floor are the two factors responsible for ice remaining late in the Spring. Read Ephesians 3:13-21.
In its social aspects the Church has a three-fold character. It is a great fraternity in which we are told that the early Christians continued steadfastly in the Apostles' doctrine and fellowship.

It has its charter members, its rite of initiation, its doctrine and its fellowship. It demands of its members that they manifest brotherly kindness.

The Church is a family into which, "except ye be born of water and the spirit" you cannot enter. It has its family table and its relationship of a common blood, for the Lord wills to make of one blood all nations of the earth.

The Church is a Kingdom in which we serve and obey a common Lord and become faithful servants and soldiers of the realm. But it is as a family that we become members of Christ, children of God and inheritors of His spiritual riches.
